Many Or All Will Be Resurrected?

It is written:

DANIEL 12:1-2-AT THAT TIME MICHAEL SHALL STAND UP, THE GREAT PRINCE WHO STANDS WATCH OVER THE SONS OF YOUR PEOPLE; AND THERE SHALL BE A TIME OF TROUBLE, SUCH AS NEVER WAS SINCE THERE WAS A NATION, EVEN TO THAT TIME. AND AT THAT TIME YOUR PEOPLE SHALL BE DELIVERED, EVERY ONE WHO IS FOUND WRITTEN IN THE BOOK. 2 AND MANY OF THOSE WHO SLEEP IN THE DUST OF THE EARTH SHALL AWAKE, SOME TO EVERLASTING LIFE, SOME TO SHAME AND EVERLASTING CONTEMPT.

The Bible is clear that at the Lord's Second Coming, there will be a resurrection of all the dead.

JOHN 5:28-29-DO NOT MARVEL AT THIS; FOR THE HOUR IS COMING IN WHICH ALL WHO ARE IN THE GRAVES WILL HEAR HIS VOICE 29 AND COME FORTH—THOSE WHO HAVE DONE GOOD, TO THE RESURRECTION OF LIFE, AND THOSE WHO HAVE DONE EVIL, TO THE RESURRECTION OF CONDEMNATION.

JOHN 6:39-THIS IS THE WILL OF THE FATHER WHO SENT ME, THAT OF ALL HE HAS GIVEN ME I SHOULD LOSE NOTHING, BUT SHOULD RAISE IT UP AT THE LAST DAY.

JOHN 6:40-AND THIS IS THE WILL OF HIM WHO SENT ME, THAT EVERYONE WHO SEES THE SON AND BELIEVES IN HIM MAY HAVE EVERLASTING LIFE; AND I WILL RAISE HIM UP AT THE LAST DAY."

JOHN 6:44-NO ONE CAN COME TO ME UNLESS THE FATHER WHO SENT ME DRAWS HIM; AND I WILL RAISE HIM UP AT THE LAST DAY.

JOHN 6:54-WHOEVER EATS MY FLESH AND DRINKS MY BLOOD HAS ETERNAL LIFE, AND I WILL RAISE HIM UP AT THE LAST DAY.

JOHN 11:24-MARTHA SAID TO HIM, "I KNOW THAT HE WILL RISE AGAIN IN THE RESURRECTION AT THE LAST DAY."

JOHN 12:48-HE WHO REJECTS ME, AND DOES NOT RECEIVE MY WORDS, HAS THAT WHICH JUDGES HIM—THE WORD THAT I HAVE SPOKEN WILL JUDGE HIM IN THE LAST DAY.

Yet we are also told in Daniel that “many” will arise at the end of time.

Is this a contradiction?

Not at all.

Very simply, the word “many” as used in the Bible often had reference to “all.”

“But the use of the word ‘many’ in Hebrew is not quite parallel with its use in English. Hebrew rabbîm, ‘many’, tends to mean ‘all’, as in Deuteronomy 7: 1; Isaiah 2: 2, where ‘all nations’ becomes ‘many peoples’ in the parallel verse 3; and in Isaiah 52: 14, 15; 53: 11, 12, where this key-word occurs no fewer than five times, with an inclusive significance. 31 As Jeremias points out, the Hebrew word kol, ‘all’, means either ‘totality’ or ‘sum’; there is no word for ‘all’ as a plural. For this rabbîm does duty, and so comes to mean ‘the great multitude’, ‘all’; cf. ‘Multitudes who sleep in the dust of the earth ...’ (NIV). The emphasis is not upon many as opposed to all, but rather on the numbers involved. In the light of this usage our author can be seen to be thinking of a general resurrection prior to judgment. Jesus almost certainly has this verse in mind in Matthew 25: 46 and John 5: 28, 29. As in chapters 2, and 7, the world as we know it has come to an end and an entirely new order has come, because the everlasting God has broken into time. He is the source of everlasting righteousness (9: 24) and of everlasting life, wording first coined³² here in the Old Testament, though other writers express the conviction that the warmth of fellowship with the Lord that they enjoyed on earth could not be ended merely by death (Pss 16: 11; 17: 15; 73: 23, 24; Isa. 26: 19).” (Joyce G. Baldwin, Daniel: An Introduction and Commentary (Tyndale Old Testament Commentaries Book 23), 225-226 (Kindle Edition); Downers Grove, IL: IVP Academic)

The Word of God is clear that at the Return of Christ, ALL will stand before Him. Our only hope of redemption is if we are found in Christ (Ephesians 1:3), and we enter into Christ when we as believers in Him repent of our sins and are immersed (baptized) in water (Acts 2:38; Galatians 3:26-27).

Have you been baptized into Christ?

The grace of the Lord Jesus Christ, and the love of God, and the communion of the Holy Spirit, be with you all. Amen.

Babylon Is Rome

Revelation 17:3, 9, 18-So he carried me away in the Spirit into the wilderness. And I saw a woman sitting on a scarlet beast which was full of names of blasphemy, having seven heads and ten horns...9 "Here is the mind which has wisdom: The seven heads are seven mountains on which the woman sit....18 And the woman whom you saw is that great city which reigns over the kings of the earth."

- Perhaps no point is more obvious in Revelation than this: Rome is here symbolized by the seven mountains. After all, Rome is the one city in history universally recognized for its seven hills: the Palatine, Aventine, Caelian, Esquiline, Viminal, Quirinal, and Capitoline hills. The Roman writers Suetonius and Plutarch refer to the first century festival in Rome called Septimontium, i.e., the feast of "the seven hilled city." The Coin of Vespasian (emperor A.D. 69–79) pictures the goddess Roma as a woman sitting on seven hills. Ancient pagan writers often mention the famed seven hills of Rome, writers such as Ovid, Claudian, Statius, Pliny, Virgil, Horace, Propertius, Martial, and Cicero, as well as by Christian writers, such as Tertullian and Jerome. Indeed, “there is scarce a poet that speaks of Rome but observes it. (Kenneth Gentry, Jr., Navigating The Book Of Revelation: Special Studies On Important Issues, 499-507 (Kindle Edition); Fountain Inn, South Carolina; GoodBirth Ministries)

- HERE the doom of Rome is prophesied. Throughout Revelation, Rome is described as Babylon, a description which was common between the Testaments. The writer of 2 Baruch begins his pronouncement against Rome: ‘I, Baruch, say this against you, Babylon’ (2 Baruch 11:1). When the Sibylline Oracles describe the imagined flight of Nero from Rome, they say: ‘Then shall ffrom Babylon a king shameless and fearless, whom all mortals and the noble men loathe’ (Sibylline Oracles 5:143). In the ancient days, to the prophets, Babylon had been the very incarnation of power and lust and luxury and sin; and, to the early Jewish Christians, Babylon seemed to have been reborn in the lust and luxury and immorality of Rome....Babylon is said to have made all the nations drink the wine of the wrath of her fornication. In this phrase, two Old Testament ideas have been fused into one. In Jeremiah 51:7, it is said of Babylon: ‘Babylon was a golden cup in the Lord’s hand, making all the earth drunken; the nations drank of her wine, and so the nations went mad.’ The idea is that Babylon had been a corrupting force which had lured the nations into a kind of insane immorality. The background is the picture of a prostitute persuading a man into immorality by filling him full of wine, so that he could no longer resist her seductive charms. Rome has been like that, like some glittering prostitute seducing the world.” (William Barclay, The New Daily Study Bible: The Revelation Of John, Volume Two, 125-126 (Kindle Edition); Louisville, KY; Westminster John Knox Press)

Satan Connected With Babylon The Great

Babylon/Iraq

Satan is given glory by the work of Babylon (Revelation 13:2) which includes literal Babylon/Iraq (Revelation 18 referencing Isaiah 13). Now compare this with the Lucifer passage also connected to Babylon (Isaiah 14:12-15).

Babylon/Tyre

Satan is given glory by the work of Babylon (Revelation 13:2) which includes Tyre (Revelation 18 referencing with Ezekiel 27). Now compare this with the “king of Tyre” passage (Ezekiel 28:11-19).

Babylon/Rome

Satan (The Dragon-Revelation 12:9) Works Through The Beast (Revelation 13:2) Which Is Then Identified As Babylon/Rome (Revelation 17:2-3; 17:9, 18).

Some Lessons Learned

1. We need to study the Old Testament if we want to better understand the Book of Revelation (Revelation 1:1-3; Romans 15:4).
2. Every nation of man that is opposed to God, His Word, and His people may rightly be termed “Babylon” (cf. James 4:4).
3. There is definitely a spiritual war going on and it will continue to intensify (cf. 2 Corinthians 10:3-6; Ephesians 6:10-18; 1 Peter 5:8).
4. Even if it feels like we are losing now, in the end we are going to be victorious (Revelation 12:11; 17:14).

Explanatory Notes

On Babylon/Animals/Demons

Revelation 18:2-And he cried mightily with a loud voice, saying, "Babylon the great is fallen, is fallen, and has become a dwelling place of demons, a prison for every foul spirit, and a cage for every unclean and hated bird!"

Isaiah 13:21-22-But wild beasts of the desert will lie there, And their houses will be full of owls; Ostriches will dwell there, And wild goats will caper there. 22 The hyenas will howl in their citadels, And jackals in their pleasant palaces. Her time is near to come, And her days will not be prolonged."

Isaiah 13:21-22 (Brenton's LXX)-But wild beasts shall rest there; and the houses shall be filled with howling; and monsters shall rest there, and devils shall dance there, 22 and satyrs shall dwell there; and hedgehogs shall make their nests in their houses. It will come soon, and will not tarry.

- Two of the passages noted above deserve some attention. In Isaiah 13:21–22, a description of the impending devastation of Babylon, the terms šyyîm and 'iyyîm occur in tandem with the šē'îrîm (Isa 13:21) associated with illegitimate sacrifices in Leviticus 17:7 (cf. Deut 32:12). The same grouping is present in Isaiah 34:14, a passage that adds lîlî to the assemblage—the Hebrew spelling of the well-known Mesopotamian demon-goddess Lilith:76...As Janowski notes, these terms could very naturally speak of “zoologically definable animals, i.e. nocturnal consumers of carrion, who appear in pairs or in packs,” but “their association with theriomorphic demons ... and the demon Lilith, is intended to place the aspect of the counterhuman world in the foreground.”78 Why does the biblical writer cast the judgment of Babylon in this way? Babylon was, in many ways, a metaphor for evil and chaos in the Old Testament, “one of the dread images of the Bible, stretching from OT history to the apocalyptic vision of Revelation.”79 Talmon adds, “The presence of such monsters in fact indicates that a place had been reduced to the primeval state of chaos.”80 But Babylon was merely the primary point of reference to a much more comprehensive threat. In his study of “desolation passages” in the prophets, John Geyer draws on Milgrom’s observation that the biblical vocabulary for desolation has secure Mesopotamian cognates that “refer to the netherworld.”81...Biblical writers were not expressing the notion that night birds and animals were actually demons any more than modern people who entertain superstitions about black cats think those animals are not members of the animal kingdom. An owl might be the symbol of Lilith, but owls were nevertheless birds. The vocabulary of nocturnal presence and behavior allowed the prophets to communicate the notion that some places are the jurisdiction of cosmic evil and therefore occupied by evil spirits. On Mount Hermon/Mount Seir/Edom

- The Ancient Book of Enoch preserved by the Ethiopians and found among the Dead Sea Scrolls contains not only accurate prophecy but also the story of Semyaza. Semyaza and a band of two hundred angels saw what Azazel was doing and decided to do the same. They descended on Ardis, the summit of Mount Hermon, and bound themselves by an oath to take wives, have children, and reshape the world into one of their own making. This was in the days of Jared, Enoch's father, about 460-622 years after Creation. Azazel had already taken a wife by this time. Some Rabbis taught that his wife was Naamah, daughter of Lamech. (She should not be confused with Naamah, the daughter of Enoch, who was the wife of Noah.) Their descendants were known as the Sedim. The Sedim were a class of pre-flood Nephilim who were worshiped as guardian spirits by the Akkadians. There were even rabbis, according to the Talmud, who invoked these Sedim in rituals for the purpose of exorcism. Azazel began teaching his clan how to make weapons of war, knives, swords, and shields from metal. He also taught jewelry making from earth metals and precious stones, in addition to teaching women to use make-up. Semyaza and the others taught many other forbidden and twisted things to their wives. They taught sorcery, enchantments, the cutting of roots for poisons and their antidotes, astrology and astronomy, and an intricate religion that set up themselves and their sons to be worshiped in the place of God. One legend states that it was Semyaza who married Naamah, the daughter of Lamech. With such perversion in the land, maybe she was the wife of both Azazel and Semyaza! According to Enoch, the main center of the Nephilim seems to have been at Ardis, the summit of Mount Hermon. But the story doesn't stop there...(Ken Johnson, Fallen Angels, 29-30 (Kindle Edition): CreateSpace Independent Publishing Platform)
- Here's what we know: The Babylon of John's vision is a religion and a city. Ezekiel gave us important clues that modern prophecy scholars have missed because they haven't considered the history and religion of the people who lived in the ancient Near East. Chapter 27 of Ezekiel is a lament over the city of Tyre. The great trading city was founded by the Phoenician descendants of Amorites who settled along the eastern shore of the Mediterranean. This lament has a clear parallel in Revelation. It not only cements the connection between the visions of Ezekiel and John, it shows that the iniquity of the Amorites is still with us...Tyre was the most powerful commercial empire in the Mediterranean for centuries. Even after the city's influence began to fade, its colony in north Africa, Carthage, grew so powerful that its most famous general, Hannibal, nearly destroyed Rome. At the peak of Tyre's power, in Ezekiel's day, the prophet linked the strength of Tyre, its ships, to Mount Hermon and Bashan. Senir was the Amorite name for Hermon, the mount of assembly ruled by "the" god of the western Amorites, El...By calling the mountain Senir instead of Hermon, Ezekiel specifically connected Tyre to the Amorites, whose evil was legendary among Jews.[461] As we noted early in the book, Babylon was founded by Amorites. Descendants of Amorites, the Phoenicians, made Tyre the foremost commercial empire of the ancient world. The link between Tyre and Mystery Babylon is the lament over its destruction...The parallels here have been noted by Bible scholars for generations. What I propose is that this connection points to the spiritual source of this global end-times religion—the gods of the Amorites, who joined forces as the directors of Allah, Inc. By extension, then, it also points to the city that this religion calls home—Mecca. (Derek P. Gilbert, Bad Moon Rising: Islam, Armageddon, and the Most Diabolical Double-Cross in History, 278-284 (Kindle Edition): Crane, MO: Defender Publishing)
